Julie Junker Retirement

DEAN'S COMMENTS

Advancing and supporting teaching, learning, and research at the University of South Dakota engages and motivates each and every member of the University Libraries faculty and staff. During the summer months, in collaboration with university partners and friends of the university, we improved the second floor of I.D. Weeks, added new resources, and improved access to resources. Highlights are found in the following pages.

As the new academic year begins, I invite you to tell us how we are both helping you, students and faculty, reach your academic goals and how we can improve. In particular, please respond to our LibQual survey that was developed by the Association of Research Libraries and scheduled for late October. We want to hear from you.

Daniel Daily

DIGITAL PUBLIC LIBRARY
OF AMERICA

South Dakota Universities Increase Access to Digital Collections through Collaboration with the Digital Public Library of America

The Digital Library of South Dakota (DLSD) has partnered with the Digital Public Library of America (DPLA) to bring over 50,000 items held by South Dakota universities to national audiences. Together, the collections within this digital library consortium offer unique resources, particularly in the areas of regional history and the lives and experiences of generations of South Dakotans.

The DPLA is a non-profit working to increase the discovery of library, archive, and museum collections by aggregating metadata and thumbnails for millions of records from across the nation. DPLA has been growing a network of contributing institutions that bring diverse materials to a large public audience. The cultural institutions participating in DPLA represent the richness and diversity of America itself, from the smallest local history museum to our nation's largest cultural institutions.

More can be learned about the Digital Library of South Dakota and the Digital Public Library of America at their respective websites, explore.digitalsd.org and dp.la.

New Second Floor Carpet

In the summer of 2018 new carpet was laid on the second floor of the library. As part of the project the shelving was rearranged to bring the library into ADA compliance. The new setup provided an updated look with a more open feel and increased accessibility. Some additional space has already been repurposed into study areas for students, with the goal being spots that combine the collaborative nature of the second floor with a more secluded feeling not found in the west side of the building.
